

News Release

Digital Planet Announces A Redesigned Website With New Online Tools For Customers And Partners Nationwide.

June 1st, 2010

Media Contact:
Shawn Schmidt
651-233-5800
sschmidt@dpcinc.com

Saint Paul, MN – Digital Planet Corporation, an industry-leading telecommunications professional services firm, has created a best in breed website that separates the two divisions which make up the company; Digital Planet Communications, the Midwest’s leading provider of Avaya and Toshiba phone systems and related equipment, and Digital Planet Telecom, the only national master agency that focuses exclusively on VAR’s and Interconnects.

“Digital Planet has operated two divisions under one roof since we entered the phone system equipment business in 2005,” said Jonathan Watkins, Co-Founder of Digital Planet. “The equipment side has grown exponentially and over time the two divisions have become convoluted with each other, it is time to properly define the two divisions of the company.” Watkins added.

Digital Planet was founded as a national master agency over 10 years ago, and in 2005 entered the phone equipment business with the purchase of Telemation Communications. Telemation had been selling Toshiba and Avaya phone systems in the Midwest since 1992.

“In 2005 Digital Planet had begun to have success partnering with VAR’s and Interconnects to integrated telecom services into their equipment sales,” said Jonathan Watkins “The Telemation acquisition was a way for us to learn the VAR/Interconnect business from the inside out as well as enter the phone equipment market.” Watkins added.

To learn more about Digital Planet go to www.dpcinc.com.

About Digital Planet

Headquartered in Saint Paul, Minnesota, Digital Planet is a professional services firm specializing in the delivery of solutions that integrate telecom network services and phone equipment solutions. Digital Planet has relationships with over fifty telecom carrier sources and offer equipment solutions from Toshiba and Avaya. Like its valued customers, Digital Planet has an industry proven reputation for quality and customer focus.